Introduction, maps and narrative of families

This is followed by family sections, each beginning with a descendency chart, followed by family group sheets for the appropriate family members. The author has many of these groups extended to the present, but deals here mainly with those who began in Dorchester County, Quebec and moved to Jacksonport, Door County, Wisconsin. If a female daughter married someone from another of these families, her family group sheet is with her husband's family. Apologies for the lack of an index, but time does not allow for that now.

BAGNALL and Related FAMILIES IN JACKSONPORT, DOOR COUNTY, WISCONSIN
by Ginny (BIRMINGHAM) HAEN

Jacksonport, Door County, Wisconsin was the home of several Bagnall families in the late 1800s. They were a part of a larger group of Irish-Scotch settlers who came from the Frampton area of Dorchester County, Quebec, Canada, southeast of the city of Quebec and across the St. Lawrence River.

Some of these families included John Tolerton and Eliza (RUTHERFORD) BAGNALL, Samuel and Alice (WILSON) BAGNALL, George and Sarah (BAGLEY) BAGNALL, John and Alice (SMITH) BAGLEY, Hugh Henry and Adelaide (ANDERSON) SARGEANT, George Benjamin SARGEANT, Edward and Catherine (LIGHTFOOT) SARGEANT, Joseph and Maggie (WILSON) SMITH, Joshua and Sophia (SMYTH) SMITH, John and Rebecca (SMYTH) SMITH, George and Eliza (STEWART) SMYTH, Rev. Charles and Mary (BAGNALL) THORP, Henry and Sarah (SMYTH) WILSON, and John and Jenny (LIGHTFOOT) WILSON. Other associated names were DICKSON, HARPER, KINGSTON and REYNOLDS. Joseph and Marguerite (BREEN) ROBINSON were also early Jacksonport settlers that may have been in this area of Canada. It is known that Joseph went to Canada to live with an "Uncle Joe Smith." There were several people by that name in Dorchester County.

As you read the above list, you may guess that several of these early residents were brothers, sisters or cousins. Since most were friends and neighbors in Canada and then in Jacksonport, some of their children also married. It has been difficult to do the Bagnall family history without becoming involved in all the families. I must admit that I feel closely involved with them all--direct ancestors or not.

Following are segments on each of the families I have found to be involved in the migration from Dorchester County to Jacksonport, Door County, Wisconsin, USA. Descendancy charts and family group sheets are grouped by family following the text.

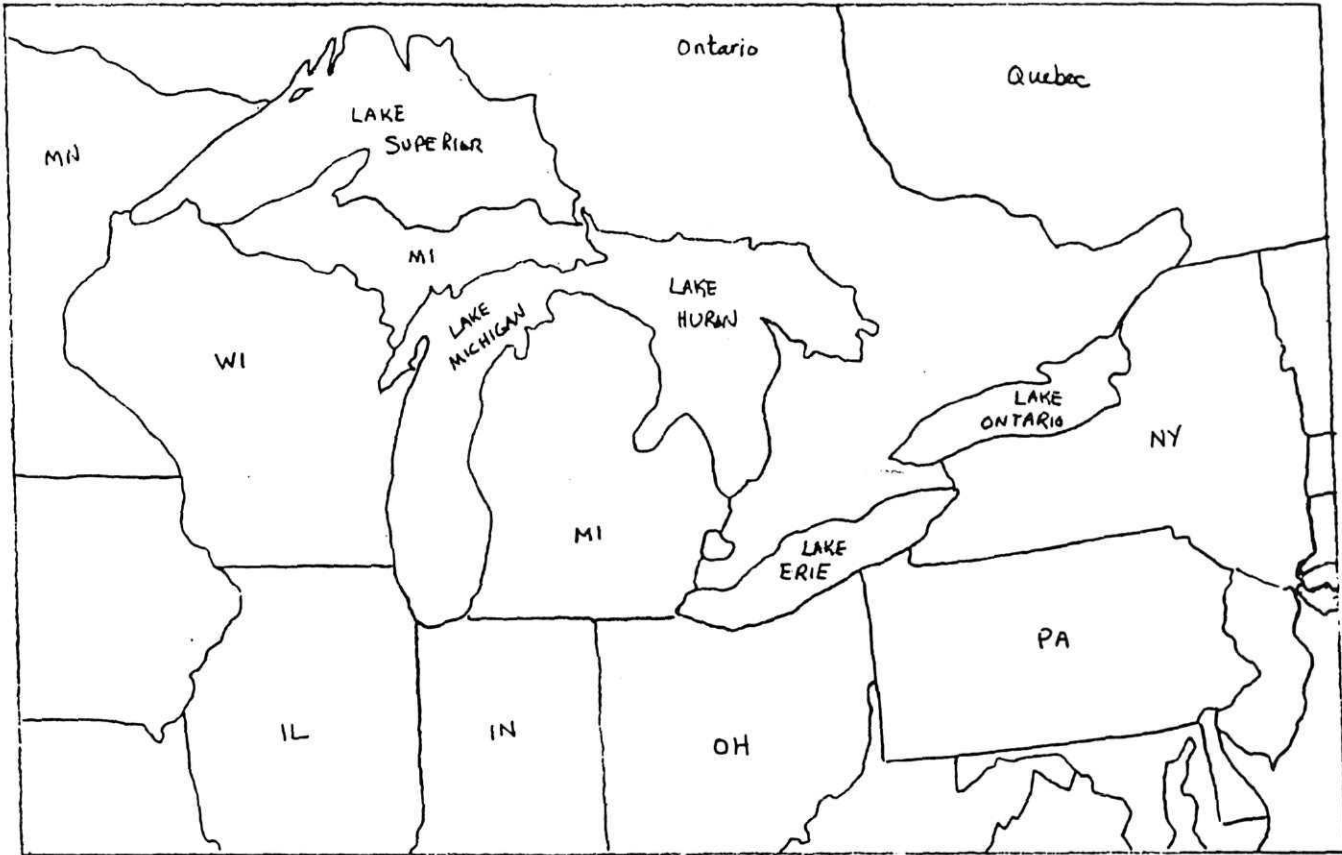

Can we find more information on the earlier generations? Where are all the descendants now? Any additional information and corrections would be welcomed and I am always happy to share my data with others interested in these families. I do have documentation available for most of the facts.

CIVIL TOWNS

THE BAGNALL FAMILIES

George Smyth BAGNALL and his wife, Mary TOLERTON, parents of our Jacksonport families, had come to Quebec from Dublin, Ireland about 1835. The Tolertons, Quakers, had come to Dublin earlier from Armagh in northern Ireland. Family stories tell of George's adventures as a trader on the St. Lawrence, including several shipwrecks near Amherst, one of the Magdalen Islands. Finding this too dangerous, George settled down to farming in Frampton, and was also listed as a shopkeeper on the 1861 Dorchester census. His sons also turned to farming, but the youngest, John Tolerton BAGNALL, ventured to "The States" and Jacksonport in 1867 to seek a new life for himself. At the time the main goal of Jacksonport's developers was getting out the timber and clearing the land.

John T. Bagnall (1839-1897) became a "timber cruiser," purchasing land and hiring men to help him remove the timber. He went briefly back to Canada to marry Eliza RUTHERFORD in 1870. She was a daughter of John and Martha (BELL) RUTHERFORD, also from Armagh in northern Ireland. After their marriage, John and Eliza came to Jacksonport to carve a life in the wilderness. He had many memorable experiences, including moving his wife and young daughter to Peshtigo, Wisconsin just before the Great Fire of October 8, 1871. After that incident, he came back to Jacksonport, thankful to have his family still alive. He and many of the other lumbermen of the time travelled to Upper Michigan to get out lumber when times were slower in Door County. He had camps located at Maple Ridge, Beaver Switch, and Bay du Noquette, Michigan. John and Eliza continued to live in the Jacksonport area, moving often to follow the timber. Eliza often accompanied him to cook for the men in the lumber camps. They raised seven children; three stayed in Door County, three moved to upper Michigan and one moved to New York state.

John's young sister, Mary BAGNALL (1844-1886) married Charles THORP, an Englishman. They too left Canada in those early years. They were in Jacksonport by 1880, but had been in the southern part of Wisconsin (where he attended Nashotah House seminary to become an Episcopal priest as early as 1866) and then served parishes in southern Wisconsin, Michigan and several locations in Canada before coming to Door County. Their two youngest children were born in Jacksonport. Mary died when about 42 years old, leaving five young children. Charles moved to the south with all but the youngest, remarried and died in Louisiana. He is mentioned in a history of Jacksonport's Holy Nativity Episcopal Church as being one of the vestrymen whose names were placed in the cornerstone (others being John Bagley, Samuel Bagnall, Joseph Smith, and builders James Nugent and Joseph Krock). Their youngest child, Ernie THORP, less than a year old when his mother died, was raised by uncle George and aunt Sarah (BAGLEY) Bagnall. Later, he also moved to the southern U.S.A.

Letters went back and forth between Jacksonport and Frampton. One that survived from 1871 is from older brother George, to younger brother John Tolerton Bagnall in Jacksonport replying to John's requests that they join him in Door County. George was not yet ready to leave Quebec. "There is nothing would please me better, Dear Johny, than to be near you and for us all to be settled near each other.... If I could get a fair price for what I have here and bundle my alls into the big haycart and drive over to you it would not be such a big job, but there is a great deal to be looked at.... No doubt this place is backward and improvement is slow, but it is improving though slowly and if annexation with the U. States took place (which I think I would be in favor of) Frampton would not be the worst place in the world."

Those letters and pleas eventually seemed to work. In 1883, brother, Samuel BAGNALL (1836-1891) and his wife Alice WILSON, daughter of Joseph and Margaret (HOSSACK) WILSON, came to Jacksonport with their family of seven, ranging in age from two to twenty. One more child, Hector, was to be born here.

While some of their children ventured to Michigan or to Washington state, several remained in Door County. George and Louisa (SARGENT or SARGEANT) BAGNALL and Hector and Mildred (BAGNALL) BAGNALL remained in Jacksonport to care for the family farms. This branch of the family still has descendants with the Bagnall name living in the township. The old family farm, on Bagnall Road, is now on the list of Century Farms (meaning that the farm has been in the same family for at least 100 years). Louisa Sargent was a daughter of Edward and Catherine (LIGHTFOOT) SARGENT, also from Dorchester County.

The eldest son of George and Mary (TOLERTON) BAGNALL, George BAGNALL (1833-1905) and his wife Sarah BAGLEY, daughter of Isaac and Eliza (ROTHWELL) BAGLEY, came last in May of 1884 with their three surviving children. Their oldest son, Richard Tolerton BAGNALL, was already married to Mary DICKSON, daughter of Thomas and Sarah (RUTHERFORD) DICKSON of Frampton. Sarah DICKSON was a daughter of John and Martha (BELL) RUTHERFORD and a sister to Eliza (RUTHERFORD) BAGNALL. George and Sarah's second child, Tom married Margie WILSON in 1897 in Jacksonport at the new Methodist Church, the first wedding to occur there. The Bagnall families and others had been instrumental in starting that church, though most of them had belonged to the English Church in Quebec and the Episcopal Church of the Holy Nativity in Jacksonport. Richard and Mary BAGNALL were the author's great grandparents.

Most of this early generation settled on Bagnall Road. Several of those early homesteads are still there, and though most of this happened long before I was born in 1943, I can almost feel the history as I travel down the road remembering stories and photos shared by relatives with whom I have visited.

THE SMITH/SMYTH FAMILIES

Three or four SMITH brothers and a sister settled in Door County, after spending their early years in the Frampton and St. Malachie areas of Dorchester County. Children of Irish parents, Thomas and Mary (WILSON) SMYTH, Joseph, Alice, Joshua and John and their spouses were in Door County by the mid 1870s or early 1880s. It is thought that Mary (WILSON) SMITH and Joseph WILSON (see WILSON section) were siblings. Tom SMYTH was a son of Joseph SMYTH of Queens County and/or Dublin Ireland and in Quebec operated a sawmill, sold lumber and operated a farm. Tom and Mary are buried in the cemetery of St. Paul's Church in St. Malachie (Hemison).

Joseph SMITH (1838-1915) seems to have arrived in Jacksonport earliest with his wife, Margaret (WILSON) SMITH, daughter of Joseph and Margaret (HOSSACK) WILSON. Joseph was an early dealer in lumber and earned the nickname, the "Cedar King," for the large volumes of wood he sold. He first had gone to Cheboygan, Michigan in 1866 and worked in the lumber camps for three years. After his marriage in Frampton in 1872, he and Margaret settled in Jacksonport. The family later moved to Cedarville (Mackinac County) in upper Michigan. Joseph died in Pickford, about ten miles from there, but is buried in a Cedarville cemetery.

Sister Alice (about 1844-1922), married John BAGLEY, brother of Sarah (BAGLEY) BAGNALL. See this family in the BAGLEY section.

Joshua SMITH (1848-1935) married Sophia Osburn SMYTH (1850-1933), daughter of Joshua and Isabella (DICKSON) SMYTH. By 1885 they lived in Jacksonport township. They later moved to upper Michigan. Joshua died in Powers or Wilson, Michigan (Menominee County). Sophia's death record has still not been found. There is some thought that Sophia's parents were Joshua and Isabella (WILSON) SMYTH.

John SMITH (1849-1924) married Rebecca SMYTH (1854-1920), daughter of George and Eliza (STEWART) SMYTH of Levis, Dorchester County. John first left Canada about 1873, and came to Jacksonport where he spent two years working in the woods lumbering and at the docks loading timber. He returned to Canada to marry Rebecca and together they came to Jacksonport about 1879, where he purchased land to farm. Rebecca's parents spent their last years in Door County as well, being buried in the cemetery of the Jacksonport Episcopal Church of the Holy Nativity. John and Rebecca died and are buried in nearby Sturgeon Bay.

A fourth brother Abraham, owned land in Door County by 1876, but died shortly thereafter. He does show up on an early unofficial plat map in 1876, but no other record has been found to support his presence or his death. An old newspaper clipping tells us that another brother Edward, was ready to leave for Jacksonport when he was taken with a severe illness and died a few days later.

Might the parents of Sophia Osburn SMYTH and Rebecca SMYTH be connected? Were they related to Thomas SMYTH's family? Looking at the Dorchester censuses at all the SMITH and SMYTH names, it would seem a difficult task to sort them all out.

Much of this information comes from research done by Clyde SMITH of Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, who is still working to make the connections. His grandparents were John and Rebecca SMITH.

THE WILSON FAMILIES

Joseph WILSON of Hemison is the first of his family that has been documented. He was born in 1813 (Ireland or Quebec?) and died in 1855 leaving his widow, Margaret (HOSSACK) WILSON and six young children. He is found in the feudal rental books of Gilbert Henderson in 1853; there is also a Joseph Wilson listed in the first Gilbert Henderson census in 1815. He had a store on the Royal Road between Lake Etchemen and Sainte Claire, which about 1847 was the gathering place of all the Irish and Canadian farmers. He had a brother (name unknown) who had a store in Quebec City, from which he would bring news of Ireland back to his customers. It is probable that his parents immigrated to Canada from Ireland, but that needs to be investigated further. Margaret (HOSSACK) WILSON was born near Elgin, Scotland in April of 1815. Her family came to Quebec City about ten years later. After her husband's death, she continued the business until in 1878, she moved to Door County to live with her daughter, Margaret (Mrs. Joseph) SMITH.

The four children of Joseph and Margaret (HOSSACK) WILSON who lived beyond 1871 all settled in Door County.

John Hossack WILSON (about 1842-1916) married Jane or Jennie LIGHTFOOT, daughter of Captain Henry and Elizabeth LIGHTFOOT in Frampton. They farmed for a time in Jacksonport, then moved to Garden City, Kansas where he died in 1916.

Alice (Allis) Anderson WILSON (1845-1930) married Samuel BAGNALL. They farmed in Jacksonport as well. See their family in the BAGNALL section.

Margaret Forsythe WILSON (1846-1928) married Joseph SMITH, the cedar king. See their family in the SMITH section.

Henry Forsythe WILSON (1850-1921) married Sarah Maria SMYTH in Frampton. It has not been documented who her parents were, but her father is listed as John or George SMYTH. Family lore tells that she was reared by or a protege of one of the Henderson families in Canada; in fact the 1871 census for St. Malachie does list her at age 22 in the household of William Henderson, one of the early land proprietors of Frampton. The 1861 census does not show her in the Henderson household; however, there is a Sarah about the right age in the household of Frances DICKSON (widow SMYTH) in Frampton.

Descendants of Henry and Sarah Wilson and Alice and Sam Bagnall still live in the Jacksonport area.

Much of this information is from a Wilson Family History, compiled by James Forsythe Wilson II in 1983 for a family reunion.

THE SERGEANT/SARGENT FAMILIES

John and Margaret SERGEANT were natives of Ireland; by 1831, John is listed in the Township of Frampton, Dorchester County, Quebec. He was a cultivator or farmer, owned his land and home and the ten members of his household were members of the English church. Four of his 50 acres were cultivated and his harvest was oats. Among his six known children were, John Jr and William, who had three offspring who immigrated to Jacksonport, Door County, Wisconsin.

John Jr. and Hannah (HODGSON) SERGEANT had four children, among them Edward SERGEANT (-1893) who married Catherine LIGHTFOOT in 1857. Edward and Catherine came to Jacksonport in 1889 with their family of ten children. Catherine's parents, also from Dorchester County were Captain Henry and Elizabeth LIGHTFOOT, natives of England. Though many descendants of this family moved all over the United States, several do still live in Door County.

Hugh Henry SERGEANT (1850-1896) married Adelaide A. ANDERSON at St. Paul's Church, Hemison, St. Malachie in 1878. They came to Jacksonport in July of 1884 with his brother, George Benjamin SERGEANT (1861-). Hugh and Adelaide's family stayed in the area. No other evidence has been found about George Benjamin. The parents of Hugh Henry and George Benjamin were William and Margaret (HURLEY) SERGEANT. The HURLEY family was from County Down, Ireland. Some members of this family also attended Christs Church in Springbrooke.

Somewhere through the generations, the name has evolved from SERGEANT to SARGEANT to SARGENT.

Much of this information comes from a SERGEANT/SARGENT FAMILY genealogy done in 1984 by Joan (Rogers) Reichard.

THE BAGLEY FAMILY

Isaac and Elizabeth (ROTHWELL) BAGLEY were born in Ireland and came to Standon, Dorchester County, Quebec sometime before 1851. The 1851 census shows all their children born in Ireland except the youngest, age 1. However, the 1861 census shows all born in Lower Canada, with the exception of Sarah, who is already married and living in a separate household. Two of these children came to Jacksonport as adults.

Sarah BAGLEY (1832-1913) married George BAGNALL. Information on their family can be found in the BAGNALL section.

John BAGLEY (about 1836-1887) married Alice A. SMITH, daughter of Tom and Mary WILSON SMYTH. They had ten children. At least two married offspring of the other Dorchester / Jacksonport families. Isaac BAGLEY married Mary (Minnie) BAGNALL, daughter of Sam and Alice (WILSON) BAGNALL. Thomas S. BAGLEY married Frances (Fanny) WILSON, daughter of Harry and Sarah (SMYTH) WILSON.

Some of the other BAGLEY families from Standon, settled in the state of Michigan. Arthur BAGLEY, of Wilson, Michigan (Menominee County), married another of the Jacksonport residents, Harry WILSON's daughter, Eleanor Avis Porter WILSON.

THE HARPER FAMILY

William and Maria Jane HARPER had a daughter Alicia (Lilly), (born in 1870 in Quebec, died in 1941 in Door County), who married John (Jack) Thorp BAGNALL, son of Sam and Alice (WILSON) BAGNALL. In 1881, the HARPER family was living in Dorchester County, St. Malachie, Division 2. By the 1905 Door County census, William and Maria were living in the household of their daughter and son-in-law in Sturgeon Bay town, about ten miles south of Jacksonport.

THE RUTHERFORD AND DICKSON FAMILIES

John and Martha (BELL) RUTHERFORD came from Armagh County in northern Ireland to Frampton in the 1840s. Though their RUTHERFORD name does not follow through in Jacksonport, two of their daughters have Door County connections. Daughter, Eliza RUTHERFORD (1844-1903) married John Tolerton BAGNALL in 1870 and lived in Jacksonport. Daughter, Sarah RUTHERFORD (about 1834/1838-1895), married Thomas

DICKSON in Canada, and had a daughter, Mary DICKSON who married Richard Tolerton BAGNALL in 1883. Richard and Mary came to Jacksonport in 1884.

Thomas DICKSON (about 1811-1879) was a son of William DICKSON and is buried at St. Paul's, Hemison. According to correspondence that survived, there were also DICKSON cousins living in Manitowoc County, Wisconsin, about 60 miles south of Door County.

THE REYNOLDS / KINGSTON FAMILIES

James and Ann Jane REYNOLDS, also of Dorchester County Quebec, were in Jacksonport by 1885. They somehow were closely connected with the KINGSTON family. James' parents, John and Anne REYNOLDS lived near Thomas and Sarah (DICKSON) KINGSTON in Frampton in 1861. The 1900 Jacksonport census shows Stewart and Jennie KINGSTON listed in the REYNOLDS household. Though the census is stained and difficult to read, it appears to say that Stewart is the adopted son of James and Ann. Another of that family, Sarah Kingston, married the Rev. Joseph Jameson, an Episcopal priest in Jacksonport. More research needs to be done on these families.

THE LIGHTFOOT FAMILY

Not much is known about this family, except that two daughters of Captain Henry LIGHTFOOT and his wife Elizabeth HODGSON did emigrate to Jacksonport with their husbands. Catherine LIGHTFOOT married Edward SARGENT (see the SERGEANT / SARGENT section) and Jane or Jenny LIGHTFOOT married John Hossack WILSON (see the WILSON section). A few others are in the Canadian census records, but nothing more is known about them. In the 1861 Frampton Dorchester County Census, there was a family made up of John and Myria HODGSON. Living with them were four single people, Maria Jane (age 21) and Margaret (23) Sergeant, and Henry (17) and William (14) LIGHTFOOT. Also in Frampton at this time were Edward and Catherine (LIGHTFOOT) SARGENT (age 27 and 20) with their daughter, Priscilla (age 3) and three other Sargents, too old to be their children: Jane (19), William (14) and Maria Jane (21). Maria Jane seems to have been listed twice, in both the above households. Captain Henry and Elizabeth (HODGSON) LIGHTFOOT were thought to be from England. More research needs to be done on this family.

Information on the BAGLEY, HARPER, RUTHERFORD, DICKSON, KINGSTON, REYNOLDS and LIGHTFOOT families was gathered by the author, Ginny Haen.
